GROANS SPURRING RESCUE PARTY TO LIMIT OF POWERS

Twenty-Three Dead Removed From Snow Covered Train.

Two Wrecks in Illinois Today.

NET TWO DEAD; TEN INJURED.

Seattle, March 2.—Twenty-three are known to be dead and 25 are still missing, following the sweeping far into the depths below the entrance to Cascade tunnel, of two trains of the Great Northern railway by an avalanche of snow. Big relief parties were sent out from Wellington, the nearest point to the disaster, worked all night and are struggling with the snow today, spurred to frantic efforts by moans and cries from under the debris.

The Great Northern Spokane express had been stalled on the summit of the Cascade mountains since last Thursday.

The stalled train was about two miles west of the west portal of the Cascade tunnel, and the track was open to the tunnel. Two passengers who came out and walked over the ten miles that is blocked gave the number of persons on the train as more than 60, of which 51 were passengers. Among them were several women and children.

The victims lived in terror of their fate for days before the disaster occurred, according to the story told today by John S. Rogers and a party of nine others, who arrived here after struggling through tremendous snow drifts 24 hours. Rogers and his companions left the stalled train before the avalanche struck it. They said they could see a huge mass of snow hanging on the side of the mountain, held only by coarse timber. It was the greatest accumulation of snow ever known in the history of the mountains, according to a hotel keeper where the train is stalled.

Two Trainmen Killed.

Flora, Ill., March 2.—Two trainmen were killed and five are reported injured in a collision of Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 3, running between Cincinnati and St. Louis, which ran into the rear end of an extra near here today. Engineer Lynch and his fireman, of the passenger train, were crushed to death. None of the passengers are reported injured.

Antics of an Engine.

Benton, Ill., March 2.—A head-on collision on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad this morning resulted in the injury of five trainmen. Guy Vertess, an engineer, was the most seriously injured, being scalded and badly crushed. After the collision one of the engines reversed itself and ran back two miles from the scene of the wreck.

Returned After Five Years

After being at large for five years, Nelson Thorpe, colored, wanted at Brookport, Ill., on a charge of murder, was caught yesterday at Owensboro. Sheriff Lytton, of Metropolis, went after him and returned with his captive this morning. He reached Paducah last night and the negro was held over in the city jail this morning, when Sheriff Lytton left with him for Metropolis. He will be arraigned for trial immediately.

PALMER TRANSFER CO.
LOSES ITS APPEAL

Frankfort, Ky., March 2. (Special.)—The appellate court affirmed the verdict for $900 damages in the appeal of the Palmer Transfer company against Charles Smith, colored.

Smith is a hunchback, and about a year ago was riding on the seat of the bus of the Palmer Transfer company. At Eleventh and Caldwell streets the bus collided with a street car, and the negro was thrown to the ground and sustained a fractured leg. A verdict for $900 was returned in circuit court, and the transfer company appealed.

THE WEATHER

The predictions and temperatures for the past twenty-four hours will be found at the top of the seventh column on page four.

Senator Conn Linn is Shoved Off Rostrum by Presiding Officer of Senate, Who Snatches Up Gavel

Lively Time in Upper House in Effort to Rush Louisville Ripper Bill—Mrs. Cox Stands by Her Husband.

Frankfort, Ky., March 2. (Special.)—The senate was in confusion this morning and a fight was narrowly averted between Senators Cureton and Olliver on one hand, and Conn Linn and G. A. Taylor on the other, over attempts to pass the Louisville ripper bill. Senator Linn had the chair, while an appeal from Lieut. Gov. Cox's decision was put and he tried to hold it to pass on another motion. Senator Cureton denounced him and trouble seemed imminent. Governor Cox finally mounted the rostrum, snatched the gavel from Linn and pushed him off the platform. Quiet then reigned. Mrs. Cox, fearing trouble, accompanied her husband to the stand. The ripper bill was delayed by the failure of the printer to have the measure printed.

After a long wrangle, during which it developed that the ripper bill never has been printed regularly, Cox declared the senate adjourned after Linn, who had taken the chair during an appeal from Cox's decision on a former matter, had entertained a motion to extend the session indefinitely. Republicans then left the senate and Democrats continued with Linn in the chair.

The house passed the bill, appropriating $15,000 for a monument to Jeff Davis at Fairview.

Fend Over a Cow.

Ashland, Ky., March 2. (Special.)—Five men and one woman were wounded in a pitched battle between the Cook and Endicott factions at Felix, W. Va. The trouble originated over a cow, which is in the possession of a member of the Endicott faction.

Big Amateur Performance.

Rehearsals are being held daily for the big amateur performance to be given at the Kentucky theater Friday night and Saturday matinee under the direction of Mrs. William Deal. A large chorus of children will entertain the public, a feature being the grand ensemble of children representing all nations. The entire gallery will be reserved for colored people only, and a nominal admission fee will be charged over the entire house.

Mrs. E. B. Dorroh.

The body of Mrs. E. B. Dorroh, who died at her home in Reector, Ark., passed through Paducah last night en route to her old home in Livingston county. She had resided in Reector, Ark., five years. She was a member of the Baptist church. Besides her husband she is survived by one son, Richard Dorroh, and two daughters, Misses Ruth and Helen Dorroh. Two sisters survive: Mrs. Jane Tyner and Mrs. Lear, of Pinckneyville. There are four brothers: P. A. Clark and John S. Clark, of Pinckneyville; W. O. Clark, county judge of Livingston county, and the Rev. Charles Clark, of Salem.

Polite Burglar Sorry He Alarmed Ladies

Misses Ha and Mittie Hart, occupying the west wing room at the residence of J. W. Wright, 935 Jefferson street, were awakened at a quarter before 2 o'clock this morning to find a masked burglar standing over them.

"Don't scream, ladies," said the intruder. "I'll leave."

Becoming more frightened by the man's presence they recovered their voices and began screaming and the man departed hurriedly through the window through which he had entered. The entire household was aroused. He took between $4 and $5 from the ladies' purses after ransacking their trunks in the room.

Waiting until all was quiet and giving everyone a chance to go to sleep, the man had secured a step ladder to mount the window, which is several feet above the ground. The window was unlocked and he raised it with as little noise as possible.

THE LAHM CUP.

San Antonio, March 2.—Messengers received here today from Clifford B. Harmon, pilot of the balloon New York, indicate that he will claim the Lahm trophy for his flight from San Antonio to Little Rock. He insists the distance covered was 790 miles. A. Holland Forbes sailed from St. Louis to Richmond, Va., 781 miles.

SPEEDING IS NOW SERIOUS MENACE

CHIEF SINGERY WANTS "FOUR MILE" RULE AT FOURTH AND BROADWAY.

Chief of Police Henry Singery will ask the general council to adopt an ordinance compelling vehicles of all kinds, street cars and bicycles, to go slow down to four miles an hour or a walk in passing the corner of Fourth street and Broadway, one of the most dangerous spots in the city.

The chief says every day pedestrians are in danger of being run down by street cars and automobiles especially. Fifteen policemen on that corner could not prevent an accident if autos and cars are allowed to speed by. The only remedy is an ordinance.

With the approach of spring Chief Singery will station patrolmen at "speed corners" over the city to see that automobiles do not exceed the limit of fifteen miles, to which they are restricted by ordinance. The number of autos in Paducah is steadily increasing and precautions will be taken to avoid accidents. The number of motor cars here it is said will exceed 100 by the time good weather sets in.

Tobacco Sales

Eleven hogheads of leaf tobacco were sold today by the Planters' Protective association, the highest price being $11.50, and the lowest $9.50. The sale was as follows: 1 hoghead, $11.50; 5 hogheads, $11; 3 hogheads, $10.50; 2 hogheads, $9.50.

MAYFIELD'S KNIGHTS ENTERTAIN NEW DEPUTY

Mr. A. E. Stein, district deputy for the Knights of Pythias, made an official visit to the lodge at Mayfield Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance of members and the meeting was a pleasant one socially. There was work in the second rank and after its conclusion refreshments were served. For some time past the lodge has not been prospering, but there seems to be renewed activity, and from now on interest will be aroused to a great extent. Mayfield lodge has quite a large membership among the very best people of that city, and it is expected to add many new members in the near future. At the meeting it was voted to extend an invitation to the Paducah lodge to make a fraternal visit as a body and confer the rank of Knight upon several candidates on the night of Tuesday, March 15.

Polite Burglar Sorry He Alarmed Ladies

Climbing inside, he opened the trunks in the room and emptied the purses inside. Thinking the ladies had concealed money under their pillows, the bold burglar approached the bed. When he laid his hand on the pillow the Misses Hart were awakened. By the time Mr. Wright reached their room the burglar had fled, leaving the step ladder against the window. Nothing was missed from the room.

A short time afterwards the police were notified and Patrolmen Gilliam, Dunaway, Garrett and George were sent in an effort to locate the man. No trace of him has been found. The Misses Hart were unable to tell whether he was white or black, as he was masked and wore a slouch hat pulled over his head.

BOND ISSUE BILL IS LOOKED AFTER BY TWO CITIES

Lexington and Paducah Have Similar Measures Before Legislature.

City Solicitors Will Work Together on Them.

ONE LIKELY TO BE PASSED.

Only one out of three bills that cities of the Second class of Kentucky have been fighting for at the state legislature at Frankfort will be passed. In the opinion of City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr. This will be the bill, providing that cities of the Second class, Paducah, Newport, Covington and Lexington, may float bonds for street improvements, giving property owners a limit of 10 years in which to pay their part.

Louisville has announced her desire to be included in this, but Mr. Campbell says she is too late this year, as the other cities have gotten together in the fight. Several details are to be worked out.

While City Solicitor Campbell has been working up points in the new bill City Solicitor J. M. Allen, of Lexington, has been working along the same line, although at a different angle. Last night Mr. Campbell received a letter from Mr. Allen, telling of his ideas, and Mr. Campbell was unaware of Lexington's steps. They will get together and work to the same end, and Mr. Campbell's measures will form a substitute. Both bills will go through as one. According to Mr. Campbell, there is no doubt that the bills will go through this session of the legislature. He stated this morning that Senator W. V. Eaton, of Paducah, was not clear on a few points in the bill and he will write him, explaining every part of it. Mr. Campbell hopes to have the bill presented without his presence at Frankfort, as he is busily engaged here at present. If any technicalities arise he may be compelled to go to untangle them.

The new law, when adopted, will be a convenience to the city, property owners and contractors. It will permit greater competition between bidders, as a large amount of work can be done at one time. The contractors will receive their pay from the city while in turn the property owners will be allowed 10 years to pay their part.

Ten Dollar Hogs

The ten-dollar hog has not reached Paducah yet. It may be that Paducah will come later and butchers will not guarantee that the latest in the markets will not reach this city. At present hogs are selling for $2.25 a hundred pounds. The high price of meat, and particularly pork, has affected the demand. One butcher this morning said: "The demand for pork has fallen off about one-third because of the increasing price. The roughest class of pork now retails for 15 cents a pound, while the average quality of pork chops brings 20 cents a pound."

REORGANIZATION OF THE PACKET COMPANY

Capt. Harry C. Gilbert, president of the Paducah and Evansville Packet company, operating the steamers John S. Hopkins and Joe Fowler, who recently resigned owing to ill health, has sold his interest in the company to Mr. R. C. Arnold, of Evansville. Mr. Saunders, a Fowler, local manager of the company, returned from Evansville yesterday afternoon and says a reorganization of the company is to be effected the latter part of this week. He said there are to be some other changes in the stockholders. Both the Hopkins and Fowler are laid up at Evansville and the Joe Fowler probably will resume the Evansville trade next week. Repairs are being made to the Hopkins, which has a cracked cylinder. Both boats will be operated in a few weeks.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE OFFICERS MEET

Officers of the Anti-Tuberculosis league will meet in the office of City Health Officer H. P. Sights tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of completing the organization of the league and outlining the work. The league was organized following the address of Dr. Dunning Wilson, of Louisville, several weeks ago on the prevention of the spread of the white plague. The meeting will be called at 4:30 o'clock. The officers are: H. C. Rhodes, president; Mrs. J. A. Rudy, vice-president; A. R. Meyer, secretary; Richard R. Rudy, treasurer.

MR. ARCH SUTHERLAND TO LEAVE FOR SOUTHWEST.

Mr. Arch T. Sutherland has accepted a position with the Mayfield Woolen mills as traveling salesman, and will leave April 1 for his territory in the panhandle of Texas and New Mexico. His family will remain in this city. Until recently Mr. Sutherland was a member of the firm of the Cochran Shoe company, but disposed of his interest in order that he might seek a position outdoors.

Louisville Man, Who Killed Woman, Says He Did it While Preventing Her Attempts to Murder His Mate

Clothes of Drowned People Float to the Spot Where
Their Bodies Lie—Eddyville
Has Epidemic of Measles.

Louisville, March 2. (Special.)—Arthur Miles, who shot Bessie Stiff to death at Clay street and Broadway last night, asserted this morning that she had threatened to kill his wife and he was trying to adjust matters with her at the time of the tragedy.

Three Drown in Green River.

Rockport, Ky., March 2.—Ambrose Aubrey, Mrs. J. Aubrey and Miss Nellie Aubrey were drowned when their canoe was swept over Height falls, in Green river, near here.

The bodies of the victims were recovered soon afterwards, in a peculiar manner. Acting upon the advice of a traveling clairvoyant, the friends of the victim procured a complete set of wearing apparel belonging to each and cast them in the water near the place where the trio went down.

A party in a gasoline launch followed the clothing, which rushed rapidly down the stream. When about a mile from the scene of the accident the clothing stopped, whirled around several times, and started toward a group of willows and driftedwood as if drawn by a magnet. The unseen power drew the clothing to different parts of the driftedwood and at each point where the clothing stopped, there the dead bodies of their owners were found.

Search Trains for Liquor.

Danville, Ky., March 2.—The recent raids on "blind tigers" in Danville and vicinity have resulted in more than 10 arrests, with convictions in 155 cases and fully a hundred more to be tried. Fines already assessed for violation of the liquor laws aggregate $9,000 and workhouse sentences amounting to 2,000 days have been imposed. Danville is one of Kentucky's "dry" spots, and in the effort to enforce the laws even the trains are watched. When persons arrive who to the town authorities bear a resemblance to "bootleggers" they are searched before being allowed on the streets. Private flasks are frequently confiscated, and in cases where the "flask" has been unusually large, the owners have been added to the population of the town jail.

Cliff Matthews.

Clinton, Ky., March 2.—Cliff Matthews, one of the old settlers in this county, died suddenly at his home near here well, but was out walking around only a few minutes before death claimed him. He was 59 years old and is survived by one son, Herbert, and four daughters, Mrs. George Vaughn, Mrs. John Reid, Mrs. James Johnson and Miss Irene Matthews.

Guardsmen Must Serve One Day.

Frankfort, Ky., March 2.—Every company in the three regiments of the Kentucky national guard will be called in active service during the next three weeks. The length of the service for each company will be only one day, and every soldier who fails to report at noon on the day he is called into service will be arrested by a detail and a severe penalty will be imposed. This is the plan that has been devised by the adjutant-general's department to have the Kentucky troops make a good showing on inspection in order to comply with the requirements of the Dick bill. Under the law the regiments must come up to a certain standard or the state will not get its share of the appropriation for the national guard. Kentucky is entitled to about $80,000.

Measles at Eddyville.

Eddyville, Ky., March 2. (Special.)—Measles has taken Eddyville by storm, and it is quite the fashion to have a case in every home almost in the town. Many children are ill, but none of the cases are serious it is thought. Visitors to the state penitentiary are limited as the officials do not desire the measles to get a start among the convicts.

The epidemic spread to Kuttawa, but is confined in the poorer district of the town.

MR. ARCH SUTHERLAND TO LEAVE FOR SOUTHWEST.

Mr. Arch T. Sutherland has accepted a position with the Mayfield Woolen mills as traveling salesman, and will leave April 1 for his territory in the panhandle of Texas and New Mexico. His family will remain in this city. Until recently Mr. Sutherland was a member of the firm of the Cochran Shoe company, but disposed of his interest in order that he might seek a position outdoors.

DOLLIVER LETTER NOT AUTHORIZED BY SEC'Y WILSON

He Did Give Pinchot Permission to Furnish Information to Senator.

Ballinger Charge Based on Another's Letter.

MANY WRITINGS INTRODUCED

Washington, March 2.—After the most exciting day of the hearing, the Ballinger investigating committee adjourned until Friday.

Gifford Pinchot and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson clashed dramatically before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee. Mr. Pinchot asserted that he secured Secretary Wilson's permission to write to Senator Dolliver.

Secretary Wilson, taking the stand declared with great emphasis he never did and never would have consented to the writing of such a letter. He never saw the letter or heard of it until read in the senate.

It was a surprising development when Gifford Pinchot announced to the committee that he based his charge that Secretary Ballinger had been guilty of making statements to the president that were "absolutely false in three essential particulars," not upon a letter from Mr. Ballinger himself, but upon a letter written by J. T. Roland, a former law partner of Mr. Ballinger, to Dr. Lyman Abbott. Mr. Pinchot said a copy of this letter, with annotations, was forwarded by Mr. Ballinger to the president.

Covered by Ballinger.

Mr. Pinchot admitted that the three alleged false statements in the Roland letter had previously been covered by a letter written by Mr. Ballinger himself to the president, in which Mr. Ballinger had made what the witness admitted was a true statement of the facts.

Mr. Pinchot said he did not attempt to reconcile these two facts.

Attorney Pepper began to question Mr. Pinchot as to the sequence of events following July 1, 1909, when the former forester said he first heard of the Cunningham claims through forest officials in the west. When he heard what his subordinates in Washington had done at Glavis' request, looking to a postponement of the hearings of the Cunningham claims, he approved thoroughly.

Asked if there was anything unusual in the interference of the forest service, Mr. Pinchot read a letter signed by President Roosevelt on May 17, 1905, directing the secretary of the interior to co-operate with the forestry service as to lands in forest reserves and to adopt the service's findings as far as possible.

Interview With Glavis.

The witness next told of his interview with Glavis at Spokane, on August 9, 1909. The meeting was by appointment, and Mr. Pinchot said he possibly had met Glavis once before, he was not sure. Glavis laid all his evidence before him. Mr. Pinchot said, and spoke of publishing the whole story.

"I was deeply impressed by what Glavis said and urged him to go to the president. I did this because I thought a scandal would arise, as it has since arisen, and I thought the president ought to have an opportunity to protect himself and his administration."

Mr. Pinchot read in evidence the letter of introduction he gave Glavis to the president. In this letter he said he had known Glavis for several years. The witness explained that he thought he had met Glavis once before—at any rate, he said he had known him for several years.

Glavis Had One Idea.

As to Law Officer Shaw going to Chicago to assist Glavis in the preparation of his statement to the president, Mr. Pinchot said the impression had gone forth that Shaw had assisted Glavis in preparing an article published in a weekly paper. This was not true, the witness declared, for such an article could not have been in contemplation when Shaw was with Glavis.

The witness read into evidence the full text of a letter written to him

THOUSANDS WILL JOIN BIG STRIKE

UNLESS PHILADELPHIA TRAC-TION COMPANY WILL AGREE TO ARBITRATE.

Philadelphia, March 2.—Unless officials of the Transit company can be forced to recede from their persistent refusal to arbitrate with the striking employees by Saturday, Philadelphia will be in the throes of one of the most serious labor disturbances in the history of American cities. Many of the unions have already voted to join the sympathetic strike. Some of the largest are the carpenters and builders, 5,000; bricklayers, 1,500; molders, 2,000; musicians, 2,200; brewery workers, 2,000; cigarmakers, 2,300; hatters, 1,800; railroad trainmen, 1,800; carpet makers, 1,900; plasterers, 300; United Hebrew trades, 6,000; grocery clerks, 1,000.

Accept New Elevator.

The sub-improvement committee of the general council composed of Councilman George Hannin and Aldermen VanMeter and Oehlschlaeger today officially accepted the new electric elevator at the city hall, subject to the ratification of the general council. Mr. Charles Smith, of Cincinnati, who installed the elevator here, returned home today. The lift is working excellently.

Unpleasant, This.

Minnie Pleasant, colored, a servant girl living in a room at the rear of R. G. Terrell's residence on Kentucky avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets, wasn't as pleasant as she might have been this morning, when she found someone had entered her room last night and stole several articles of clothing, consisting of a brown silk dress, a black silk coat, two blue serge skirts, a black and a white hat and one sheet. The police were notified but no clew has been found.

CONVERTING MONEY IS HORSE TRADE CHARGED.

While acting as agent, James Kempson, it is alleged, converted money secured by the sale of a horse to his own use. He was arrested by Detective T. J. Moore and gave bond before Magistrate C. W. Emery. Kempson, it is alleged, acted as agent for J. W. Stanley, of Hickory Grove, in the sale of a fine blooded horse that was sold to C. A. Torrence for $110. The horse was worth much more, it is alleged, and when Kempson failed to get a high price, out of which he would have received a commission, he is accused of selling the horse for $110 and converting the money to his own use. Mr. Torrence sold the horse to James M. Lang, who had the horse registered as he is of fine stock.

Officers of the Men's Bible class of the Broadway Methodist church last night voted to have a banquet March 29, probably at the Auditorium rink. News of Theatres

"The Yankee Doodle Boy" will be at the Kentucky theater March 3.

The musical comedy novelty, "Buster Brown," by R. E. Outcault, the famous trio, "Buster, Tiger and Mary Jane" and 40 others, in a new play, also new music, costumes and scenery, will be the attraction at the Kentucky theater tonight.

"The House of a Thousand Candles," which will be presented at the Kentucky theater on March 11. All the scenery for its four acts, the odd mechanical devices made necessary by the whimsical story, and each detail that lends the mysterious atmosphere to the unfolding of the plot will be found fully complete.

Mr. Tim Murphy's present and greatest success, "Cupid and the Dollar," which he will present at the Kentucky theater on the evening of March 10, is by Charles Jeffrey.

The first act of James Forbes' comedy, "The Traveling Salesman," which comes to this city at an early date, where it will be seen at the Kentucky theater, represents the railroad depot of a small middle west town, with the usual furnishings that go with a place of this kind in a rural district.

Will Wait a Year.
New York, March 2.—The recent opposition of Germany to the proposed American Exposition in Berlin this year resulted in a meeting of the American executive committee today in this city, at which time it was decided to postpone the exposition until 1911, when a German-American Exposition may be held instead. This would insure the support of the German interests.

THE ONE LAXATIVE BETTER THAN CALOMEL.
Calomel is a valuable drug when it acts well. It certainly does stir up the liver and clean out the bowels—but when it doesn't act well, it is a poison. Calomel is mercury, and mercury settles in the bones, causing many, many ailments. Some you know about, others are known only by the doctors who prescribe it. Why run this risk when you can take a harmless substitute, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, do not contain calomel or any form of mercury, yet they do calomel's work, without bad after effect. They do not weaken, sicken or gripe. You need to take but one or two at bed time. Note how gently and perfectly they act. You should keep them in the house or in your pocket. Remember Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the only successful substitute for calomel. At all drug-gists in neat 10c and 25c packages. The Olive Tablet Co., Portsmouth, O.

ELKS' QUINTET WIN EXCITING

For the first time this season the Chess, Checker & Whist club's basketball team went down in defeat last night when the Elks' quintet won by the close score of 15-14. It was a game full of excitement, and the defeat of the Chess team was a surprise. The second game was between the High school and the Light and Power teams, and the game was won easily by the school lads, 32-7.

In the first half the Elks played rings around the Chess team, stood 11-2 when time was called. During the play the Elks put up clever team work, and bewildered the C. C. & W. players, who stood in bunches and watched the Antlers shoot baskets. In the second half the Chess players made desperate efforts to overcome the lead, but failed by one point. At the last of the game the Chess Checks were throwing baskets in splendid form, but it was too late to overcome the defeat.

High school won an easy game from the Light and Power team. The students walked away with the game, and had little difficulty in ringing up baskets. Last night the first games were played in over a week, and a large crowd was out to see the sport. Enthusiasm went wild when the Elks accomplished the almost impossible of defeating the C. C. & W. team.

The teams lined up: Elks—J. Shelton, center; Sutton and Harbort, forwards; Henneberger and Johnson, guards. C. C. & W.—R. Fisher, center; Puryear and Sights, forwards; Singleton and St. John, guards. High school—King, center; Browning and Ogilvie, forwards; Hughes and Craig, guards. L. & P.—Hodge, center; Pettigill and G. Shelton, forwards; Keyburn and Simpson, guards. The officials were: Kelley, referee, and Lydon, umpire.

PACKERS HIT HARD

PROSECUTOR GARVEN TO DEMAND PRIVATE PAPERS.

If Indicted Companies Refuse He Will Move to Have Corporations Dissolved.

New York, March 2.—The next move of Prosecutor Garven, of Hudson county, N. J., against the indicted packers and their companies will be to apply at Trenton, the state capital, for the minutes of the accused corporations.

If these are not produced an order will be asked compelling the companies to show cause why they should not be dissolved for contempt.

Prosecutor Garven would not say when he intends to take such steps, but it was understood he will do so tomorrow.

The sheriff will shortly report which of the corporations and their officers indicted are now in his jurisdiction.

Copies of the capias and indictments against those elsewhere will then be sent out to the police of the counties where they live.

If the police decline to make arrests the governor of New Jersey will then make requisitions for extradition.

C. C. THOMPSON

PROMINENT MCCRACKEN COUNTY MAN DIES.

Heart Disease Ends Life of Sawmill Man at Cecil—Other Deaths.

Mr. C. C. Thompson, one of the most prominent men in McCracken county, and for years proprietor of the saw mill at Cecil, died at his home in Cecil, this morning at 12:30 of heart disease. His death was sudden and unexpected, and was a great shock to his many friends in this section of the county. Mr. Thompson came to this section about 12 years ago and settled in Cecil, a small hamlet about 4 miles from Paducah on the Cairo road, and engaged in the saw mill business, in which he was engaged in at the time of his death. His business grew rapidly and in a few years Thompson's mill was known for miles around and farmers from a radius of ten miles brought their logs to him as he was known for his square dealings. He was 66 years old and leaves a wife, and one daughter, Mrs. Lottie Holt, of Rowlandtown, he also leaves two brothers, one in Chicago, and one in Michigan. The out-of-town relatives have been notified and the remains will be held until word from them is received.

Girl Escapes Slavery.

St. Louis, March 2.—After being held a prisoner in a room more than 24 hours by two men, whom she says chloroformed her and were going to take her to Chicago to sell her into "white slavery," Estelle Sanders, 12 years old, frightened and hysterical, staggered into her home here today and related her story to a policeman, who was at the house preparing to start in a search for the girl. The child related that two men slipped up behind her, as she was on her way to visit a girl friend, and pulled a handkerchief, saturated with chloroform, over her face. The next thing she remembered she was being taken from an auto and into a house, where she was guarded by men. Today the girl says they took her to the Union station in an auto and boarded a train for Chicago, but she jumped from the train.

Faust Brand Spaghetti is all food. Besides appetizing qualities it possesses also great nourishing power. We could talk to you of "protein" and "carbohydrates"—their percentages and proportions—but prefer to leave technical terms to Government reports and content ourselves with the plain, unimpeachable statement that one five cent package of does as much to build up and sustain bodily vigor as two pounds of beef.

Think of that! A five cent food outlay against a fifty cent food outlay, and the cheaper food in every way as good as the higher priced. No wonder we're becoming a Spaghetti-loving people. All grocers sell "Faust"—5 and 10 cents the package. If you'd like the proof of what we've said, get a package and try this fine Spaghetti recipe.

PRINTING BILL

MAY GIVE VREELAND'S FRANKFORT PAPER CONTRACT.

The Rules Committee Calls Up What It Wants and Secures It Easily.

Frankfort, Ky., March 2.—By the vote of 55 to 29 the house of representatives passed the Carter bill, providing for publication of all of the opinions of the court of appeals; increasing the salary of the reporter of the court of appeals to $2,400 annually, and dealing a knockout blow to the foreign corporation, which publishes law reports, as far as Kentucky is concerned.

This was one of the bills in which the "third house" was vitally interested, for it is well understood here that a well equipped printing plant in Frankfort, in which two at least of the "Big Four" are financially interested, probably will be the beneficiary by publishing the Kentucky Law Reporter and advance sheets of the court's opinions.

The best informed have no doubt that if the bill becomes a law it will prove no source of loss to the job printing department of the Frankfort News, the newspaper of which the general manager is Hubert Vreeland, brother of Graham Vreeland, of the Courier-Journal, reputed speaker of the third house.

It is further pointed out that the house vote is no mean victory for those back of the bill, since the opinions have heretofore been issued by the West Publishing company, a millionaire Minneapolis concern, which for many years has issued the supreme court reports of a dozen or more western states.

There was some stoutish opposition to the bill, led by Representatives Don G. McVean, of Covington, and Eugene Graves, of Paducah.

SCHOOL LIBRARY
RECEIVES BOOST

MONEY FROM CONTEST DOUBLED BY BOARD.

J. T. Cummings Elected Enumerator, H. L. Judd Trustee and L. V. Armentrout Secretary.

A. T. SUTHERLAND RESIGNS

Taking of the enumeration of all children of school age in the city will be done by J. F. Cummings, as last night the school board awarded him the contract at 2½ cents for each name. The awarding of the contract to one person or firm has been found more satisfactory than letting the work out by wards. Mr. Cummings will employ assistants to help him in covering the city, as it is necessary for the work to be completed during the month of April. It is of great importance to the finances that the name of every child of school age, whether attending the public schools or not, is secured, as the state allows $4 for the education of each child.

Farmers should eat more oatmeal.

Although the farmer of today is able to buy almost anything he wants to wear or to eat he isn't paying enough attention to food values when it comes to his own table.

If he has been watching the extensive researches and experiments on the question of the best human food for muscle and brain he will heed the advice from all sides to "eat more Quaker Oats."

Quaker Oats is mentioned because it is recognized in this country and Europe as the best of all oatmeals. Feeding farm hands on Quaker Oats means getting more work out of them than if you feed them on anything else.

For hot climates it is packed in hermetically sealed tins; regular size package 10c.

As a penalty Mr. Cummings will pay the school board 5 cents for the name of each eligible child he misses.

Three bids were in for the work: Burns & Burns, J. F. Cummings and Frank B. May, of May & Starke, who did the work last year. On two rolls the board tied—4 to 4—on J. F. Cummings and Frank B. May. On the third roll the contract was awarded to Mr. Cummings by a vote of 5 to 3. He offered J. D. Bacon and Finis Lack on his bond as surety and the committee on boundaries was authorized to sign the contract.

New Trustee.

Harry L. Judd, a member of the board last year, was elected trustee from the Fourth ward, succeeding J. E. Broadway, who removed from the ward. The question of electing two trustees from the Fifth ward was left open until the next meeting in order that some prospective trustees might be consulted.

Arch T. Sutherland offered his resignation as secretary of the board owing to the fact that he will leave the city next month. The resignation was accepted with regrets. President Hills complimented Mr. Sutherland, and said the board had an excellent record of the meetings. L. V. Armentrout was nominated and elected unanimously as secretary of the board for the remainder of the year.

The trustees decided to assist in installing new reference books in the High school library, and donated $138 for this purpose. Professor W. H. Sugg was present at the meeting and made a report of the success of the oratorical contest. He reported that $290 was taken in at the contest and the expenses amounted to $154.27, leaving a balance of $135.73. He suggested that the board give an equal amount and that books be purchased, as the library has not been replenished for four years and many of the books are badly used and out of date. The motion passed, with Trustee Kelly voting "nay."

Accounts Allowed.

The reports of the finance committee were received. The report is: Balance February 1, $14,978.88; tuition, $23; received from city, $1,254.54; received from state, $4,639.20; total, $20,292.62. Disbursements were: Salaries, $5,260.05; incidentals, $15,035.57; leaving a balance on March 1 of $14,197.49.

An informal report of Superintendent J. A. Carney was read. It was impossible for him to complete his report before going to the National Superintendents' association at Indianapolis, and it was postponed until the April meeting. He reported an increase of 89 pupils over last year, while at this semester there were 88 more pupils to enter the school at the beginning of the second semester than in 1909.

Reports.

Trustee Pettit reported that the overflowing of water in the High school laboratory had been stopped by repairs.

The monthly report of Fred Hoyer, superintendent of buildings, was received and filed.

A complaint from the Jefferson school league that water stands in the basement will be investigated by Mr. Hoyer. A drain pipe has been broken and the water is not carried away properly. The building committee was authorized to erect a wire protection to the hedge that has been planted around the Jefferson school. The hedge was planted by the Jefferson school league, and the ladies want it protected until it is larger.

Those present last night were: Trustees W. J. Hills, H. S. Wells, E. J. Pettit, S. T. Hubbard, J. K. Ferguson, C. G. Kelly, William Karnes, H. B. Saltzgriver.

Gray and Faded Hair Restored

To Lustrous Beauty by Marvelous Discovery

Never before have the men and women of this country been offered such a great opportunity for preserving their beauty. Never before has it been possible to completely restore gray and faded hair to its original color in such a quick, safe and natural manner.

You can add to your beauty and take years from your looks through the use of this wonderful preparation. It not only brings back the original color to the hair, but adds a lustre which is highly pleasing.

Liberal Free Sample

This clear, pure preparation is wonderful in its action. Its results are quick and complete. It restores gray or faded hair to its original color in a natural, healthful way in from 4 to 14 days. The hair can be washed, curled with a hot iron or put to any test and you will find that the color is in the hair through and through and is lasting and natural. Do not confuse Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer with Hair Dyes. The market is crowded with troublesome Two Bottle Dyes and poisonous Sugar of Lead preparations, which you can recognize by the white or yellow sediment which must be "shaken before using" and which are not only greasy, stick and disgusting to use, but in addition bring about worse conditions than existed before the treatment. There is no use trying to conceal the fact that your hair is gray or faded if the results reveal the truth. Gray hair or faded hair is much preferable to thin hair with three or four different shades.

Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer is different than other preparations because it cures the cause. It's neither greasy nor sticky and is as pure as water. It's pleasant to use easy to apply, healthful in its work and lasting in its results. Just write me a letter, tell me the exact color your hair originally was, or better still, send me a lock of it. I will send you absolutely free of all charges a sample bottle in a plain package which will in no way reveal the nature of the contents and with it I will send, also free, a special comb for applying it. Use the Restorer on a lock of your hair. Follow our simple directions for applying it and you will then know beyond question that Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer is all I claim it to be and more. Not once in thousands of tests has it failed. One full size bottle, price $1, is sufficient in most cases to restore the original color. Send for free sample today—right now while you think of it. Address

Daily Thought.

Never doubt that hard sinner work pays. If there is anything that is sure to win it's sincerity.

Of course, we all laugh at the tax returns, showing only 312 dogs in McCracken county. Nearly everyone of us knows that there are at least 312 dogs in the county.

We trust the rules committee will not permit the legislature to adjourn without making the theft of a shout a felony. It would be to Kentucky's shame not to place the hog on an equality with the American hen.

Prosecutor Garvin, of Hudson county, New Jersey, is the latest hero of the plate service pictures. He is prosecuting the beef trust, says he has spurned a bribe and declares he is going to be very harsh and exacting with some of Chicago's leading citizens.

If you don't believe the fiscal court has truly been reformed, we call your attention to the fact that a committee was appointed to consider the purchase of road graders "without compensation." There is no politics in a road grade. Now, if it had been a "steam roller"!

ANTICIPATION.

Citizens of Paducah read with satisfaction yesterday the news in The Evening Sun that the Paducah and Illinois Ferry company has contracted for a boat to replace the Bettie Owen; and that the new boat, while being larger and faster, thus better able to meet the demands of the traffic between Paducah and Illinois and Livingston county, is to be equipped with a large cabin and deck, especially designed to meet the requirements of pleasure parties. It is certain that the river will be enjoyed more than ever by Paducahans when the new boat is placed in commission, and the attractiveness of Paducah as a summering place will be immeasurably enhanced.

DO YOU WISH TO ISSUE BONDS?

Impatience with loose financing and a natural inclination for keeping both ends always within meeting distance, leads us, barring other considerations, to favor the erecting of permanent public improvements by bond issues. Taxes are always a burden, and it is not fair to heap an extraordinary burden on the taxpayers of today, for a work, from which the taxpayers of 50 years hence will derive as much, if not more, benefit. A bond issue provides for the extension of payment over a period, such as will distribute the cost among all those who enjoy the benefits, and a sinking fund for the final orderly retirement of the debt. In this we agree with the county magistrates and the county judge, regarding the erection of a new county jail, and we used the same argument in favor of issuing bonds of the state to make up the deficit created by the cost of the state capitol.

In order that the sentiment of the county taxpayers may be secured on the question of the erection of a new county jail, which unquestionably the county needs, we invite communications from citizens. We would like to present a symposium of sentiment on this subject, and we throw open the columns of The Evening Sun to people, wishing to contribute their views on the subject, or express the sentiment of their neighborhoods. This is the best way to inform the fiscal court of the trend of public sentiment, and we have no doubt the members would be pleased thus to ascertain the attitude of their constituents.

THE PLAY AND THE HAT.

The play's the thing. If Mr. Audubon had written a play, featuring vegetables as the principal characters, he might really have done something for the birds, and had his name perpetuated in a season's millinery creation. As it is, the Rostand play "Chanticleer" promises to undo all the work accomplished by the Audubon society. The women have gone wild over the "Chanticleer" hats, and whole birds are to be sacrificed in the construction of each piece of headgear. This increases the cost of the hat and aggravates the distressing meat situation through the operations of the law of supply and demand.

How human nature does find its true expression in the various stages of civilization! We must visualize. Everything a woman likes she wants to stick on her head. Everything a man likes he wants to stick in his mouth. All the great prize fighters, runners, soldiers and statesmen lend the attractions of their names to various brands of cigars, and relics of the chase find lodgment on the walls of the "den." The names of great actresses and the titles of great plays and novels are reproduced in contemporary millinery styles, and the pile is built up of material as nearly as possible suggesting the name adopted, or in conformity to the headgear worn by the leading woman of the play, inviting suspicion that possibly the leading woman's reward for starting the fashion was not limited to the popularity thus attained.

However, the foregoing is not intended to lead the unhappy man, who finds himself impaled on a hat pin in a street car or crowded theater lobby, into any indiscretion predicated on the belief that the woman likes him, because she has fastened him on her head. If it happens to be a lady, adorned with the "Chanticleer" style of millinery, that wounds him, however, he may mistake the sex of the bird upon her hat, and imagine he has been pecked by a sitting hen.

Optimism makes its last stand in the hope that no Chicago playwright will ever succeed in dramatizing the union stock yards.

RIGHT WILL TRIUMPH.

Seattle has joined San Francisco and a few other cities for a wide open town. Not deceived; it is but an indication that all the enemies of good order and justice have been unified by a common peril, and with their backs to the wall they are fighting with the aggressiveness of desperation. Against them are opposed good citizens, as yet still divided by prejudices and lack of personal interest in a common cause. The united forces of evil must necessarily swing the balance of power as long as the opposition is divided; but it means something to have them grouped; it makes it easier for the cataloging of the book "Who's Who."

The dive keepers, gamblers and bawdy house procurers, and interests that seek unfair advantage in gaining special privileges, and favored business men join hands, and pool their resources. They are able to command the resources of clever political manipulators, who don't mind stooping to fraud. The good citizens divide along party lines, divide along religious lines, divide along racial lines, divide along social lines, and divide along almost any kind of line the political manipulators may throw out. They don't contribute money; because they have no personal profit in view, and don't believe in corruption, anyway; and they won't resort to fraud.

If the forces of evil in the election carry the courts and prosecuting officers with them, and can handle the legislative and executive departments of the city, their political manipulators have little to fear, especially if they were supported in the election by any remarkable number of good citizens. But the disreputable end of this political combination is sure to overstep the bounds of public suffering and make itself the issue in an election. Then will its allies also be brought to the bar of justice, and the wreck will be something fearful to contemplate. There are more good people, than bad; more good in everybody, than bad; and the day when self-interest gets lined up by the fates on the side of the good in folks is a day of terror to evil doers.

The Assembly in the Role of Windmill.

"Governor Willson reminds us of Don Quixote tilting at windmills when he sends in a message asking the legislature to pass the measures recommended in his third and latest message. He has about the same chance of getting most of them through that the old don had in knocking down a windmill."—Frankfort News.

Use of the Military.

Editor Meacham, of the Hopkinsville Kentuckian, a Democrat fearless enough to speak his mind when his party is in the wrong, censures the report of the legislative committee, which attacks Governor Willson for his effort to suppress the night riders in western Kentucky. Editor Meacham very properly defends the governor from the attack of the committee. "His record at the point attacked by the legislative committee is almost invulnerable. With that alone in issue before the people, he will be strongly endorsed. The committee has blundered in trying to make political capital by pandering to lawlessness. But this blunder is in keeping with the uninterrupted series of blunders committed by this legislature, and the best thing the party can do in the next campaign is to repudiate the legislature and promise to try to atone for all the mischief it has done and tried to do."—Clinton Gazette (Dem.).

The Arbor Day Spirit.

Chicago is to have a tree-planting campaign in the spring and the expectation is that Arbor Day will be observed to a greater extent than ever before in the city's history. The city forester and the civic improvement organizations are working together to arouse interest in the campaign, and the newspapers are helping things along.

Thanks to the Kentucky women's club's, the governor and the superintendent of public instruction, Kentucky's Arbor Day was celebrated last year more generally than ever before. The widespread and growing discussion of forestry matters is making Arbor Day a more important occasion than it has been in the past. There should be a tree-planting campaign every year in every city, in every town and at every schoolhouse. Most schoolhouses in city and country need trees and it requires no great effort to secure suitable varieties and plant them. Once the school children are imbued with the Arbor Day spirit it will not be difficult to maintain interest.

Anybody and everybody can do something by way of the fitting recognition of Arbor Day. It is a good day for general cleaning up of back yards, alleys, streets and vacant lots; an appropriate time for a sort of annual overhauling of the premises and a concerted movement toward civic beautification and sanitation. If it were faithfully observed it would go a long way toward making better conditions of living. If one has no trees to plant or needs no trees in his immediate vicinity, that is no reason why he should not do something appropriate to the spirit and purpose of the occasion.

Arbor Day will be along again soon and it is not a bad idea to think about it occasionally in the meantime, and to be prepared to give it proper acknowledgment.—Courier-Journal.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The President of Pastors' Association Speaks.

It is due the ministers to say that the news item in the News-Democrat of yesterday misrepresents many of the pastors. The pastors hold certificates authorizing them to marry people in the commonwealth of Kentucky. The new pastors are qualifying in this county. Some of the older ones have signed again as a matter of form. Among those holding authority for years are: Revs. W. J. Meeco, G. T. Sullivan, M. E. Dodd, D. C. Wright, T. J. Owen, W. E. Bourquin, G. W. Banks, E. B. Landis and W. J. Naylor. The news gathered did not intend to offend, but the paragraph misrepresents. The News-Democrat sets the case right in its morning issue.

Some Stories Around the Town.

A stove is intended to keep fire in, and a safe is intended to keep fire out, but an experience at Rowe fire has led stove dealers to selling two stoves to their customers, one to keep fire in and another to keep valuable papers in. In the office of the Rowe company a safe and an Oak Estate, 160, stove stood together, and when the fire was over it was discovered that the safe was ruined, but the stove, which had fire inside, and out, was not damaged at all. The ill matched pair presented a strange appearance in the wrecked office after the fire.

BALLINGER CASE

by President Taft from Beverly. September 13, 1909, at the same time he wrote to Secretary Ballinger exonerating him from the Glavis charges.

In this letter the president expressed renewed confidence in Mr. Pinchot but urged him not to make Glavis' cause his own. He referred to Glavis as disingenuous and as a man who had let one idea run away with his judgment. The president expressed regret that Mr. Pinchot did not have his confidence and trust in Mr. Ballinger.

Mr. Pinchot also read his reply to the president dated November 4, 1909, in which he renewed his criticism of Secretary Ballinger.

Mr. Pepper read a letter written November 6 last to President Taft by James R. Garfield, in which he said:

"The claim that I acted illegally is based entirely upon the fundamental differences between my policy and that of Mr. Ballinger. I felt free under the supervisory power and executive discretion of a cabinet officer to take action in the interest of the people so far as there was no prohibitory provision of law. Mr. Ballinger seems to take the position that he will not act even in the interest of the people, unless there is a special permissive or mandatory provision of law."

Secretary Ballinger's reply to President Taft regarding the Garfield and Pinchot letters was read. Mr. Ballinger said:

"I am convinced that much of the animus against me is due to the fact that I have had to find so many of my predecessor's acts were without warrant of law."

A Homely Illustration.
Pinchot claimed in his preliminary statement that Ballinger, in his letter, had been guilty of three misrepresentations to the president. He wished to point out the first of these, he said, by the declaration that the letter and the exhibits "don't match."

Mr. Pinchot said the letter referred to reclamation withdrawals, whereas the exhibits cited by Mr. Ballinger referred wholly to withdrawals made under a supervisory power. Mr. Pinchot next read from Mr. Ballinger's letter this statement:

"The only error I made in the whole matter was in not making restorations and rewithdrawals (of power site lands) concurrently, which I would have done had I been as conversant with the facts then as now."

"Do you consider the course taken by Secretary Ballinger in restoring all these lands without investigation looking to rewithdrawal as a proper one?" asked Attorney Pepper.

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Pinchot. "I will give you an illustration: Suppose a lot of my neighbor's chickens had got mixed up with mine. I wouldn't have driven the whole flock out on the road and depended upon getting mine back. I would have gone among the chickens while they were in my yard, picked out those belonging to my neighbor and thrown them over the fence."

The Roland Lett.

Mr. Pinchot declared that former Secretary Garfield often had told him that he had told Secretary Ballinger he believed the Cunningham claims to be fraudulent, whereas Mr. Ballinger, according to the witness, sought to give the impression that Mr. Garfield had not made any such statements.

Ballinger Wrote on Margin.

A decided surprise came at this point in the development that Mr. Pinchot's charge that Mr. Ballinger had in his reply to the president, made statements that were "absolutely false in three essential particulars" were not based upon Mr. Ballinger's letter, but upon a letter written by Mr. Ballinger's former law partner, J. T. Roland, to Dr. Lyman Abbott. Mr. Ballinger had sent this letter to the president "as a part of his defense," according to Mr. Pinchot.

Senator Fletcher—Why do you base charges of falsehood against Mr. Ballinger in a letter written by someone else?

Mr. Pinchot—Because he annotated the letter and transmitted it so annotated to the president as a part of his defense to the charges made by me in my letter of November 4.

Senator Fletcher—You mean to say that Secretary Ballinger vouched for this letter?

Mr. Pinchot—I could draw no other conclusion.

Ballinger Stated Facts.

Senator Nelson—Don't you know as a matter of fact, that before transmitting this Roland letter to the president, Mr. Ballinger himself made a statement to the president, in which he covered these three points and in which he stated the actual facts?

Mr. Pinchot—Yes.

Senator Nelson—Then how do you say that he willfully attempted to deceive the president by transmitting this letter?

Mr. Pinchot—I don't know the workings of Mr. Ballinger's mind and—

Former Secretary Garfield was present at the opening of the session.

Has Faith in Ballinger.

Mr. Pinchot read a letter from President Taft dated Nov. 24, 1909, replying to the witness' letter of Nov. 4. Mr. Taft said he could not coincide with Mr. Pinchot's views as to Mr. Ballinger, and declared that the fact that Mr. Ballinger differed with some of the things Mr. Garfield had done did not argue a lack of friendliness on the part of Mr. Ballinger to the cause of conservation. The president also declared that Mr. Pinchot's statement had not shaken his confidence in the good faith of Secretary Ballinger and his hearty interest in the cause of conservation.

"There is expressed in this letter a disagreement as between you and the president as to what transpired at an interview between you," suggested Attorney Pepper.

"There is."

"But does the letter in any way shake your confidence in your recollection of what transpired at that interview?"

"Not a bit. The statement made to me by the president was one of vast importance to me as a conservationist, and I unquestionably placed more importance upon it than did the president himself."

Glavis Charges Not Baseless.

Asked as to what impression the letters of the president had had upon him, Mr. Pinchot said the impression was a very deep one.

"Glavis had been dismissed on the ground that his charges against Mr. Ballinger were baseless," he said, "when we now know they were far from baseless."

The witness proceeded to detail his thoughts following these events, and it became evident that he was leading up to the circumstances attending the writing of the letter to Senator Dolliver, upon which President Taft demanded Mr. Pinchot's resignation.

"I have a letter from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson saying he desires to be present when any testimony is given as to the Dolliver letter," said Chairman Nelson.

The examination was turned aside and a message sent requesting the immediate presence of Secretary Wilson.

When Secretary Wilson arrived, he took a seat beside Chairman Nelson.

Mr. Pinchot then read into evidence his letter to Senator Dolliver. Mr. Pinchot here read into the record his letter of dismissal from President Taft.

"Senator Nelson pressed his question as to whether or not Mr. Pinchot had consulted the secretary before sending the letter."

Mr. Pinchot said he would decline to answer the question unless it was put by the whole committee. A motion to press the question was carried.

"Did you consult with the secretary before sending that letter?" repeated Chairman Nelson.

"I did."

The witness proceeded to explain his answer by saying he went to Secretary Wilson on January 3, and told him Senator Dolliver had requested information from the forest service and that the secretary made no objection.

Thought He Had Permission.
"We discussed at some length the right of Senator Dolliver to get the information from me. As to the president's order for bidding subordinates to give information to congress, Secretary Wilson said: 'You and I will have no trouble about that order,' or words to that effect. I believed I had his consent. I described to him the situation as to the controversy between the interior department and the forest service. I told him of the intention of our opponents to magnify what had been done by Messrs. Price and Shaw, and that I thought the only wise thing for us to do was to lay our hand down on the table, admit what we had done and force the congressional inquiry to the points to which it ought to devote itself."

"I was convinced that Secretary Wilson favored my effort to defend Price and Shaw, although he did not favor my plan of getting publicity at the same time the other side did. I felt I had, however, secured his permission to write to Senator Dolliver."

Mr. Pinchot said he had endeavored to see Secretary Wilson the morning that his letter to Senator Dolliver was read in the senate, to submit to him his letter transmitting to the secretary the reports by Price and Shaw telling of their transactions with Glavis.

Wilson Was Nervous.

He did not find the secretary until the afternoon, however. In this letter of transmittal, Mr. Pinchot said he had included a clause referring to the transmittal of a copy of his own letter to Senator Dolliver. Secretary Wilson asked him what the clause meant, Mr. Pinchot said, and he told him that it referred to the letter they had previously discussed. The secretary told him to strike out all reference to the Dolliver letter and rewrite the letter of transmittal. This he did. Mr. Pinchot said, in the secretary's office in the department of agriculture.

The cross-examination of Mr. Pinchot was delayed until Secretary Wilson, who desired to take the stand at once, could be heard.

The secretary proved impatient at some of the questions put to him on cross-examination and became somewhat mixed as to just what letters were being referred to by his questioners, and resentful of any inference other than his own that they wished to draw from his testimony.

Mr. Vertrees, counsel for Secretary Ballinger, undertook the direct examination.

"You have heard what Mr. Pinchot has said; have you any statement to make?" he was asked.

"Some of the things Mr. Pinchot has said here—a good many of them," began Secretary Wilson, "are correct. But there are other things that are not correct." The secretary brought his fist down on the table with a resounding whack.

He then continued: "He never got my consent to send that letter to the senate. There are two things in it that would have made it impossible for me to have given my consent. He attempted to review and judge the mental processes of the president. He also assumed the authority that was mine to discipline officers of my department. Mr. Pinchot says it was January 3 that we talked of this matter. There is no use making a point as to dates. It may have been the third or the fourth. We did have the talk."

Concealed Shaw Matter.

"Ever since that order by the president, it has been the custom when congressmen ask for information from the officers of my department to come to me and tell me that a congressman wanted to know this or that. I have always told them to go ahead and give the necessary information. Nobody ever came to me, however, as Pinchot says he did, to get a general order to send in anything they pleased. I don't remember ever having refused any officer's request to give specific information as to departmental work."

"Mr. Pinchot did not tell me he was going to send a letter of that kind dealing with the president. He said he was going to send something to Senator Dolliver regarding departmental matters. If he had said he was going to pass upon the president and to judge the confession made to him by Mr. Price, I don't think he would have ever sent that letter. They kept this Shaw business from me. I did not know anything about it."

Secretary Wilson said he had tried for two months or more to get a report from Mr. Pinchot concerning the alleged activity of the forest service in the Glavis matter. He said Mr. Pinchot kept delaying making a report to him.

All Cross-Examine Him.

"And what did he finally bring me?" the witness resumed. "He set Shaw and Price to work to prepare a report to him for some reason or other. The report was nothing more than their opinion of their own work."

"Now, gentlemen, I know comparatively nothing of what you are considering here. I have read something about it in the papers, and I know what the president has said. Mr. Pinchot wants you to believe that I raised no objection to his sending letters to Senator Dolliver regarding departmental matters that he had a right to write what he did. He had no such authority from me. I knew nothing of it. The question before this committee is, 'Did he have my consent to write that letter?' 'He did not. I never saw it. I never heard of it until I read it in the Congressional Record.' A cross-examination of Secretary Wilson was begun by Attorney Pepper, but it was soon taken out of his hands by the four Democratic members of the committee, who took turns about in plying the cabinet officer with questions. The Republican members took practically no part in the examination.

Democrats Question Him.

In reply to Attorney Pepper, Secretary Wilson said he would have forgiven Mr. Pinchot for his assumption of authority to discipline subordinates of the forest service, but that he could not forgive the aspersions on the president.

"Mr. Pinchot complains that he did not get a hearing by the president," added the secretary. "He shut the door himself when he sent that letter to Senator Dolliver."

Attractive Evening Party For Visitor

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Katterjohn's delightful euchre on Tuesday evening at their home on Jefferson street, was a pretty compliment to their house guest, Mrs. Harry P. Emerson, of New York.

The house was decorated throughout with cut flowers and plants. In the reception hall red carnations and hyacinths were combined with palms and ferns. The stairway was twined with trailing plumbago. In the parlor and dining room the color motif was pink. Pink carnations, hyacinths, plumbago and ferns were effectively used throughout these rooms. The table in the dining was a beautifully appointed affair. It was veiled in a late cover. Pink carnations, pink candles in cut-glass candelabras gave the color tone. In the elaborate supper served at the conclusion of the games the pink motif was attractively emphasized in the ices and cakes.

There were five tables at euchre. Both the tables and the prizes artistically carried out the pink color effect. Mrs. Andrew Doupe captured the ladies' prize, a bon-bon dish, and Mr. Charles Backer won the gentlemen's prize, a pipe rack. The lone-hand prize, a decorated bowl, went to Mrs. George Jacobs, and the booby prize was given to Mr. Fred Dunant. The guest of honor was presented with a handsome plate.

"BLOCK DAY"

WILL BE INAUGURATED IN THIS CITY.

Home of Friendless Announces Details of Novel Plan for Charity Aid.

"Block Day" will be inaugurated in Paducah within the next few weeks under the auspices of the Home of the Friendless. It is "something new under the sun" in the way of raising money for charity, and has the advantage of "Tag Day" in that you cannot stay in doors and avoid it. It is a "house to house collection" and was originated in Reading Penn.

The idea is this: One week ahead of the day fixed for the collection, envelopes will be sent to every house in the city and the householders are notified that they will be called for the next week. The collection will all be done in one evening. In Reading 700 collectors, each armed with a bag large enough to hold many envelopes started on their rounds by blocks and districts at a signal. And the signal is the beauty of it, every church and fire bell rang and every whistle blew for three minutes beginning at 8 p. m. sharp. The entire town was sufficiently notified that the collectors had started, and when the various door bells rang the envelopes were ready for them. Ten thousand dollars was taken in by this method at Reading. And a splendid feature of the scheme is that the "charity being thus brought to their door, made the citizens more interested in helping the cause than ever before, and gifts have continued coming in ever since.

All Paducah is justly proud of the Home of the Friendless. It is a beautifully organized charity and has done a splendid work since its inception. The reward of good work is more work thought, and the demands upon the Home are constantly growing. They need more money—and big money—to meet some plans that will mean much good to the city at large. It is not often that the Home does this sort of charity asking. Its solicitations are more limited and quiet; it has had few big entertainments, and none in recent years. So it is privileged to ask what it will of the public at large, even if the nobleness of the cause did not plead for itself. "Block Day" should—and will—be the success that the Home deserves, and more could not be asked for it.

The Advisory Board of the Home of the Friendless met this morning with some of the ladies of the Board of Directors of the organization and discussed the erection of an annex to the Home and the advisability of installing a new heating plant. Architect W. L. Brainerd was authorized to receive bids for the annex. The money on "Block Day" will be used for these improvements.

Bluefields, (Wireless to Colon) March 2.—A report that General Vasquez is leading Madrid's army to raid Rana has caused the greatest uneasiness here today. The provisional government officials are unable to confirm the reports that the tide has turned against Estrada, and while the American warships will prevent an attack on Bluefields, alarm is felt for the provisional government territory in the interior.

CONVINCING PROOF

OF THE VIRTUE OF

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

What is the use of procrastinating in the face of such evidence as the following letters represent? If you are a sick woman or know one who is, what sensible reason have you for not giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? For 30 years we have been publishing such testimonial letters as these—thousands of them—they are genuine and honest, too, every one of them.

Mrs. S. J. Barber says:

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine in the world for women—and I feel it my duty to let others know the good it has done for me. Three years ago I had a tumor which the doctor said would have to be removed by an operation or I could not live more than a year, or two, at most. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for advice, and took 14 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today the tumor is gone and I am perfectly well woman. I hope my testimonial will be of benefit to others."—Mrs. S. J. BARBER, Scott, N. Y.

Mrs. E. F. Hayes says:

"I have been under the doctor's treatment for a fibroid tumor. I suffered with pain, soreness, bloating, and could not walk or stand on my feet any length of time. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, followed her directions and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Today I am a well woman, the tumor was expelled and my whole system strengthened. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 1890 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. George May says:

"No one knows what I have suffered from female troubles, neuralgia pains, and backache. My doctor said he could not give me anything to cure it. Through the advice of a friend I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the pain soon disappeared. I continued its use and am now in perfect health. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a God-send to me as I believe I should have been in my grave if it had not been for Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEORGE MAY, 86 4th Ave., Paterson, N. J.

Mrs. W. K. Housh says:

"I have been completely cured of a severe female trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and want to recommend it to all suffering women."—Mrs. W. K. HOUSH, 7 Eastview Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, etc.

VREELAND RULES IN THIRD HOUSE

MANAGING EDITOR OF COURIER-JOURNAL BEHIND LOBBY.

Can Edit Big Paper and Frame Up Laws for People at Same Time.

MOST VERSATILE MAN IN RING.

S. J. Duncan-Clark in the Louisville Herald says: Few better training schools exist for the youth of latent ability than a newspaper office. In some respects it has an advantage over a course in the legislature, and when the two are combined the product is bound to be something unusual—as for example in the case of Graham Vreeland.

Everybody knows Graham Vreeland who knows anything about "Third House" politics in Kentucky. He is not a man who makes much noise about his comings and goings, but he comes and goes with frequency, and while there may not be much of a trail left by his moccasined passage, his arrival at any point usually presages developments, and his departure, as a rule, leaves something achieved.

Graham Vreeland's ostensible claim to renown lies in his position as managing editor of that great mold of public opinion, the Courier-Journal. The evidence of his genius is seen in the fact that he can retain this most important and exigent office and yet spare so much of his time for attendance at the sessions of the legislature and little trips, in between sessions, to various corners of the state.

The average managing editor of a metropolitan daily is compelled to keep his nose much more closely to the grindstone in the sanctum sanctorum. He must be content to view the world through windows that are frequently less transparent than they should be owing to janitorial neglect. But Mr. Vreeland has proven himself to be possessed of abilities of so high an order that he can edit his newspaper and enjoy at the same time a commission as sort of director-at-large of public policy in Kentucky.

Fitted Physically and Mentally. Graham Vreeland is not a big man physically, but that fact has not been a disadvantage to him. He is too good a fellow personally to win enemies who would make demand upon his muscular resources, and his slim frame, vibrant with nervous energy, is all the better fitted for slipping around in the discharge of such tasks as come to him in the varied program of the "Third House."

Without disparaging at all the talents of the other members of this supra-constitutional body, some of the more prominent of whom have been afforded a little deserved publicity, it is merely giving credit where credit is due to say that Mr. Vreeland represents very largely the tactical skill, the strategic brains of the organization, if such it may be termed.

The early associations of this supernumerary newspaper man cluster about Glasgow, Ky., a beautiful little town that has contributed not a few men of prominence to the state. His nativity, however, is said to have been exotic to Kentucky, and it is understood that the soil of Texas has original right to whatever distinction lies in a claim upon Mr. Vreeland.

In his youth he found his way to Louisville and sought a job on the staff of the Courier-Journal. Given an opportunity to display his ability as a cub reporter, Graham Vreeland soon demonstrated, what has been true of him throughout his career, that he was an indefatigable worker. It is said that no great brilliancy marked his contributions to the columns of the Courier-Journal from a literary standpoint, but that he evinced a genius for getting at the inside of what was going on, and became invaluable as a gatherer of the kind of news that the average reporter is apt to overlook.

Picked for the Job.

The fidelity of young Vreeland, and his success in getting the stuff to use a newspaper term—exclusive stuff, "scops" that put it over competitors in the business of printing the news, did not go without reward. After serving an apprenticeship on the street he was picked out as a likely boy to send to Frankfort, in order to cover the state legislature. This was where began the second period of Vreeland's education for service as a "Third House" member.

Session after session, for years, he made the biennial pilgrimage to the Capital City, with occasional trips, when extra sessions were held, and each experience added to his fund of knowledge. In the old State House he sat in either chamber, his pencil busy recording what transpired; his quick mind grasping the underlying currents of influence and motive, that did not necessarily find disclosure in his story.

He got to know the state of Kentucky like a book. He learned its politicians from the outside in and the inside out again. He became familiar with their affiliations, their weaknesses, their aims. They discovered that he was a youth of discretion, one who could be told things with assurance that the information confided would go no further.

This was a big asset. When you have "the goods" on a man it is seldom necessary to expose him, unless you are one of those fellows who are working for our old friend Pro Bon Publico. But to have "the goods" is often an invaluable possession, and in no case more certainly than in that of the "Third House."

Ask anyone who knows, and he will tell you that, in matters political, there is no man better posted in Kentucky today than Graham Vreeland. Such knowledge as he has is his own, and who can gainsay his right to make such use of it as he sees fit?

Had Distinction of Seeing Two Republics Win. During the famous Blackburn-Hunter senatorial race at Frankfort, Graham Vreeland came into prominence as a newspaper correspondent. It was in this race that Deboe, a Republican, slipped through as a compromise candidate after a prolonged deadlock. It is an interesting coincidence that Mr. Vreeland has figured more or less prominently on the only two occasions when Kentucky has elected a Republican senator.

After this, as memory serves, he was advanced to the position of city editor of the Courier-Journal; but when the legislative session swung round again he was sent back to Frankfort, and his service as reporter of its proceedings continued without interruption until four years ago. Possibly it is not surprising that Mr. Vreeland developed what may be called the Frankfort habit, and that despite the fact of his promotion to the responsible office of managing editor of Mr. Watterson's newspaper, on the resignation of A. Y. Ford, he has been unable to resist the temptation to go back to the Capital city at each recurring session since.

At the session of the legislature two years ago Mr. Vreeland is understood to have been sent to Frankfort by his employers for the purpose of defeating former Governor Beckham, who was a candidate for the United States senate. If this be the proper explanation of his presence and undoubted activity in the lobbies of the old State House during the opening weeks of 1908, he must be given all credit for having achieved the end for which he was sent.

Mr. Vreeland is at Frankfort now, and has been there since the beginning of the present session. If you ask him why he is there he will tell you it is in order to secure amendments to the libel laws of the state, and heaven knows they need amending.

An engaging and most creditable phase of Mr. Vreeland's character is his loyalty to his brothers. There is something touching about the manner in which he looks after their welfare. Filial affection is not so general a feature of modern family relations that an evidence of it so conspicuous can be allowed to pass without laudatory comment.

He Was Always Good to His Baby Brother.

Hubert Vreeland is his youngest brother, and perhaps just because he is the baby of the family, Graham has been unusually good to him. He began by getting Hubert the office of commissioner of agriculture under Beckham. That was in 1903. It must not be imagined that Hubert is a real farmer just because he presided for four years over the agricultural interests of the state; but he is a mighty fine fellow, and genuinely appreciates the kindly services of his brother, to whom he never fails to go for advice when he needs it.

Then Graham secured for Hubert the nomination for secretary of state on the Hager ticket of 1907. He failed to have him elected, however, and for a time Hubert was out of a job. But Graham's resources were not at an end. Like the rest of the "Third House" members he has now split with Beckham—little blame to him. How could he afford to remain tied to a man who he realized, with his keen foresight, was temporarily at least elected to membership in the political Down-and-Out Club?

There was one daily newspaper in Frankfort—the Kentucky State Journal—that had been a Beckham organ and was confirmed in its loyalty to the former chieftain of the party. It is this paper that Beckham later bought when his old friend, Editor Walton, decided to move to Lexington. So Graham suggested to Hubert the plan of starting an anti-Beckham paper in Frankfort, and, lending him his help, soon had the young brother ensconced in the sanctum of the Frankfort News.

Not much money in that for Hubert, you say; but wait a bit. When the session opened in January the State Journal was on the firing line, and Beckham's trenchant pen was trickling vitriol on its pages in denunciation of the liquor lobby and other predominant influences at the capitol. Then the News rushed into the breach, painting haloes every afternoon around the heads of senators and representatives whom the State Journal was harpooning.

Next bobs up a proposition to do a great service for the busy legislators in supplying a Legislative Digest daily to be printed by the Frankfort News, Brother Hubert's little paper. And, despite the protest of Colonel Chinn and a few others, the legislators welcomed the proposition at a cost to the state of $10 per member for the session.

The next plan for Hubert was to make him secretary of the state fair. As the news dispatches have told, this scheme has fallen through for the present, but doubtless the resourceful elder brother will be heard from again in connection with it.

Has Another Brother.

John Vreeland is another brother, engaged in the publishing business also. John has hankered after the juicy job of oil inspector, but somehow or other Graham was unable to land the plum he specially wanted. Perhaps John is a little too particular in his tastes. However, he is not wholly without benefit from the prestige of his distinguished relative. Some satisfaction comes to him in

A third brother is a preacher and was—possibly still is—the editor of a denominational organ. An amusing story is told in connection with the manner in which he secured his editorial position. It is said that when the religious body in control of the organ held its convention, at which an editor was to be elected, that Graham Vreeland appeared at the convention in the interests of his clerical brother, and, by his tactful persuasion, won for him the coveted place.

From all of this it will be seen grudge against the innocent by that Mr. Vreeland, managing editor of the Courier-Journal, is a man of parts. In his career he has not only achieved for himself a place of acknowledged power in the affairs of the state, he has also prospered in a manner that is seldom within the scope of a managing editor's opportunities. But money is merely a means to an end with him. If he has made it, he has also spent it—spent it generously as those who are fortunate enough to call him their friend well know.

LIKE A LAMB

MARCH CAME IN WITH FOG EVERYWHERE.

Difficult for Steamboats to Navigate in the Thick Weather Today.

Hidden behind a heavy veil of fog that would seem natural to Londoners, March showed up this morning as peaceful as a lamb. There were no indications of winds, but according to the old sayings the month will end as blustery as a lion.

Before daylight early risers could hardly discern the street lights a half square distant and after dawn appeared it was impossible to see further than a block away. The fog hung heavily until 8 o'clock when it began to break.

Steamboats found it dangerous to navigate until that time and several were delayed in reaching this city. The John L. Lowry, from Evansville, was delayed several hours. The new packet boat Nashville, which is bringing an excursion party here from her home port, was also late. The recent rainfalls are said to be responsible for the fog this morning.

The river here began falling last night and is slowly receding. A ten-foot rise is reported at Pittsburgh and with a large volume of water ahead the river will doubtless pass the flood stage here. So far there is no occasion for alarm on the part of steamboats.

The lowest temperature this morning was 31.

Night On Bald Mountain.

On a lonely night Alex. Benton, of Port Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. Col. Liver Oil was administered in a crude and most repulsive form, and would invariably upset the stomach.

Today all the medicinal properties of Cod Liver Oil are combined with Tonic Iron in the Preparation called VINOL without oil. It is very beneficial in pulmonary troubles and quickly creates strength for weak, run-down, and aged persons.

ONLY 312 DOGS IN THE COUNTY

ACCORDING TO RETURNS FOR ASSESSMENT.

Accounts for February Allowed By Fiscal Court Before Adjourning.

COMMITTEE WITHOUT ANY PAY.

After a short session yesterday afternoon fiscal court adjourned until the April session. Before deciding to purchase new graders it was decided to have a committee appointed.
Magistrate Emery made the motion that a committee, without compensation, be appointed to act in co-operation with the county road supervisor. Judge Barkley appointed Magistrates Kuykendall, Householder and Ross as members of the committee.

Residents near Woodville want a creek straightened, and submitted a diagram, offering to assist in the work. They claim that the ditch damages lands. The report and diagram were received and filed.

Former Sheriff John W. Ogilvie
filed his report showing that there were only 312 dogs in the county.
That is dogs, on which tax has been paid, although it is not doubted that the dog population is much larger.
The report was received and filed.

Magistrate Kuykendall reported that the crossing of the Illinois Central railroad near Woodville was in a bad condition. Road Supervisor John Thompson was instructed to fill the space between the tracks.

Sheriff George Houser was instructed to discontinue collecting poll tax from R. D. Jones and J. S. Langston. Complaints of over-taxation were received from: J. S. Rickman, Sr., W. J. White, O. W. Maxon, J. L.
Thurston, Dan Orr, J. B. Steele.

The monthly salaries of the county officers were allowed by the court.

office. The files were erected last

THE NASHVILLE

ARRIVES ON HER FIRST TRIP IN THE TRADE.

Beautiful New Cumberland River
Craft is Pride of Her Home
City.

Saluted by steamboats in the local harbor, the new packet boat Nashville reached here shortly after midnight last night on her first trip in the Paducah and Nashville trade. She is in command of Capt. J. S. Tyner and a most hospitable crew. The boat is one of the most handsome crafts of the smaller types ever seen here and scores of visitors who went to look over her were welcomed and shown all courtesies by the crew. The cabin is elegantly furnished and at the rear is a fine mahogany Krell-
French piano, presented to the boat
by the board of trade at Nashville.
It is valued at $600. Captain Tyner also displayed a fine mirror and two

CATARH WILL GO.

Better in Two Minutes. Complete Cure Soon.

Don't go on hawking yourself sick every morning. It's cruel, it's harmful and it's unnecessary.

If after breathing Hyomel, the wonder-worker, you are not rid of the catarrh, you can have your money back.

No stomach dosing—just take the little hard rubber pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit, and pour into it a few drops of Hyomel. Breathe it according to directions. In two minutes it will relieve you of that stifled up feeling. Use it a few minutes every day, and in a few weeks you will be entirely free from catarrh.

Get an outfit today; it only costs
$1.00; it's worth $1,000 to any catarrh sufferer. For sale by druggists everywhere and by Gilbert's drug store, who guarantees it to cure catarrh, croup, coughs, colds, sore throat and bronchitis. An extra bottle of Hyomel Liquid if needed costs but 50c. The little hard rubber pocket inhaler you get with out fit will last a lifetime.

Beautiful pictures presented to the boat by Mayor H. B. House, of Nashville, when the boat first reached Nashville. These are hanging in the office of the boat. A reporter for The Evening Sun was shown throughout the entire boat by Capt. T. M. Gallagher. The cabin is mirrored throughout and its staterooms are neat and comfortable. The beds and bed clothing are equal to those of any lake steamer. The barber shop is elegantly equipped. At the rear of the Texas is the kitchen, an innovation in steamboat improvements. With this arrangement the odors are avoided and meals are sent down to the large steam table in the cabin by a dumb waiter. In front of the Texas is the observatory, fitted out with comfortable chairs and heated by a stove. At any time of the year this can be used to view the scenery along the Cumberland.

The rooms of the crew are roomy and clean as well as every part of the boat, even down to the engine room. Capt. James S. Tyner is a commander. Her clerk is Captain Gallagher, chief; St. Molinski, second, and Earl Brandon, third. The pilots are Harry Wells and John Penick.
J. W. Noble, or "Bill" Noble, is her mate. In charge of the engines are Louis Camp and George Ehringer.
"Old Reliable" George Clark is the steward and Charles Hamlett is the electrician. C. H. Neighbors is in charge of the carpenter work. Each stateroom is fitted with electric bells and wash basins. Meals are served on both American and European plans.

The Nashville will make two trips
a week between here and Nashville, leaving here every Tuesday and Saturday afternoon. A several piece orchestra furnishes delightful music for the passengers. Captain Tyner says between 20 and 40 students from Nashville will make the round trip to Paducah Saturday. The Nashville had a large passenger list today
and also a large consignment of freight.

Ingenious One-Man Orchestra.

A one-man orchestra, consisting of a first violin, second violin, bass violin, banjo, guitar, mandolin, autoharp, cornet, sylvan, triangle and bass drum all played by one man is described with illustration in the January number of Popular Mechanics. Nine of these instruments he plays with his feet, which operate by mechanical devices. He plays another with his hands, and the last of the series, the cornet, he plays with his mouth, although its valves, or keys, are operated by levers connected with a foot pedal. Six pedals are used in the playing of the instruments.—Exchange.

FOR CONSTIPATION.

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Gives Satisfactory Relief.

If you suffer from constipation in any form whatever, acute or chronic,
we will guarantee to supply you medicine that we honestly believe will effect permanent relief if taken with regularity and according to directions for a reasonable length of time.
Should the medicine fail to benefit you to your entire satisfaction, we promise that it shall cost you nothing.

No other remedy can be compared with Rexall Orderlies for the easy, pleasant and successful treatment of constipation. The active medicinal ingredient of this remedy, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other valuable ingredients, it forms a preparation which is incomparable as a perfect bowel regulator.
Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, and are notable for their gentle and agreeable action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience, and may be taken at any time, day or night.

We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children and for delicate or aged persons, because they do not contain anything injurious.
Unlike other preparations, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the habits acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathar-tics, and harsh physics, and remove the causes of constipation or irregular bowel action that are not of surgical variety.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. We know of nothing that will do you so much good. They are prepared in tablet form in two sizes; 36 tablets 25 cents, and 12 tablets 10 cents. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Paducah
only at our store.—The Rexall Store,

JIM HILL HAS TRUST REMEDY

UNRESTRAINED COMPETITION
BAD AS MONOPOLY.

Over Capitalization Should Be Stopped—Public Opinion Supreme —Monopoly Killed.

WOULD BE POPULAR REVOLT.

New York, March 2.—James J.
Hill, in an article entitled "How to Regulate Corporations," in the current issue of the World's Work, says that most of the public opposition to the so-called trusts is based on the belief that the trusts work toward monopoly. He then cites the following facts contrary to the extreme monopolistic theory.

First—The largest manufacturing combination in this country does not control fifty per cent of the product of the commodity it deals with.

Second—Unrestricted competition has shown itself no unmixed blessing. In many cases it has produced results as evil as those of complete monopoly would be if such a thing existed.

Third—No combination in this country will ever rise superior to public opinion or be able long to defy
it. Virtual monopolies that control through price agreement certain lines of manufactured articles would be smashed by the abolition of protected duties on these articles. An actual monopoly, controlling all production and squeezing the people, could and would be driven out of business by popular revolt.

Fourth—Steadiness of prices and profits is regarded by capital everywhere and by every management intelligent enough to hold its place as far more desirable than excessive price and undue profits.

Fifth—It thus appears that there is a law of balance and proportion in the operation of consolidated industries, not at first perceived or known, which insists upon moderation as a condition of their existence and will destroy them sooner or later
if violated.

Sixth—There is the regulative power of actual law exhibited in "antitrust" statutes all over the country, which at present tend rather to bind industrial development harmfully than to allow it dangerous freedom. Undoubtedly if consolidation should ever threaten the public welfare or the peace of the individual as a free industrial unit, this authority would be further associated and extended.

"These are all valid reasons why the popular antipathy to all forms of combination should be laid aside."

Over Capitalization Menace.

But Mr. Hill admits "there is one plain evil connected with the creation of great corporations certain of tion of certain great corporations that has not been corrected, although it is easily reached." This, he says, is overcapitalization, and he adds that
"nearly all the large concerns engaged in manufacture of trade that have come to grief owe their downfall to excessive capitalization. This is a real menace."

Mr. Hill asserts that the general government could easily prevent this evil. He suggests that "any company desiring to transact business outside of the state in which it is incorporated should be held to a uniform provision of federal law, namely, that all should satisfy a commission that their capital stock was actually paid up in cash or in property taken at a fair valuation.

"It is only fair to a dealer in Minnesota, California or Oregon, if a company claims to have ten, twenty or fifty millions of capital, and wishes to do business in that state, that he should know that its solvency and the honesty of its alleged capitalization have been passed upon by a federal commission."

Naval Expenditure.

Washington, March 2.—The secretary of the navy will decide upon the size of battleships to be built next year. The house naval affairs committee today decided to allow Secretary Meyer to make the battleships 26,000, 28,000 and 30,000 tons, as deemed best, merely limiting him to the expenditure of no more than $6,000,000 each, exclusive of armor, guns and furnishings.
The secretary recommendation for one repair ship and two colliers, was approved by the committee and he was granted four submarines instead of five he recommended.

Inventor of Sewing Machine.

New Hartford, Conn., March 1.—
A $50,000 monument to Elias Howe, inventor of the sewing machine, is to be erected here by Mrs. George L.
Lilley, widow of the former Connecticut governor and congressman. She is a distant relative of the inventor.

Rather Disconcerting.

"Mamma," said little Ethel, with a discouraged look on her face, "I can't go to school any more."
"What, my dearie, what's the matter?" the mother gently inquired.
"Cause it ain't no use at all. I can never learn to spell. The teacher keeps changing the words on me all the time."—Success Magazine.

This Bottle Contains a Real Remedy for Eczema

Perhaps you have used, as have all sufferers with Eczema and other skin troubles—the ordinary greasy salves and lotions. Really that is the wrong way to go about it.
That kind of treatment may give temporary relief but it fails to destroy the germs causing the disease. Therefore permanent results are a question. Besides they soil the clothing and linens and are disagreeable to use.

ZEMO

The Clean Treatment

is a clean, liquid, vegetable remedy for external use. It gives instant relief and effects a permanent cure because it draws to the surface of the skin and destroys the germ life causing the disease, leaving the skin clean and healthy.

the skin and scalp.

MARKET MASTER DENIES CHARGE

SAYS HE RECEIVES NO MONEY FROM BUTCHERS.

Complaint Made to the Board of Public Works About Their Stalls.

STORMS ARE RUINING STREETS

"There is nothing to it," said City Marketmaster Sencer this morning, when asked about the complaint of butchers that their stalls are not clean. "The butchers are not complaining and I have men here to clean out the stalls." Mr. Sencer denied receiving any compensation from the butchers and said the only money he received was his salary from the city. As to the condition of the stalls, he said they are all clean.

A tangled affair, in which the city market house is the scene and City Marketmaster Albert Sencer and a number of butchers are said to be the principals, was postponed for disposition by the board of public works at their regular meeting last night at the city hall, owing to the absence of Mr. Sencer, who is expected to be present at every meeting. As a result Auditor John D. Smith was instructed to write Mr. Sencer a note requesting his presence at each meeting of the board on the first and third Tuesday nights of each month hereafter.

Mr. Sencer took charge of the market house January 1, and according to a report made to President Richard Rudy, of the board, Mr. Sencer agreed with some of the butchers to clean out their stalls for a certain amount per month from each in place of having negroes do the work. Mr. Rudy says butchers are complaining that their stalls have not been kept clean. The board will make an investigation into the rumors and Mr. Sencer will be before that body at its next meeting.

Rains Ruin Streets.
According to the board of public works and the street inspector the streets of Paducah are in worse condition than they have been in ten years. It is all on account of the heavy rains recently and as the gravel pits are flooded it is impossible for contractors to haul gravel for street improvements. Heavy traffic over the mud is cutting large holes in the streets and Broadway and Jefferson streets are especially in a bad condition. Efforts are being made to remedy the conditions as fast as possible and today the street inspector and his men began patching Broadway and Jefferson street with limestone rock. This will be used for patchwork until the weather clears. Another heavy rainfall, it is believed, will result in a big damage to the streets.

At the meeting last night the auditor was instructed to notify residents along North Sixth street between Jefferson and Monroe streets of the bad condition of the pavements, and if they did not make repairs in front of their property the city will do the work and charge them with the expense.

The reference to the board of the question of opening a street between Husbands street and the Franklin school building and between Sixth and Tenth streets, by the general council, was received and filed. To build a street across the fill would cost at least $20,000, as the fill is almost 50 feet. The board also received and filed a communication from the general council, asking for the investigation of the matter of building a sidewalk on South Sixth street from Husbands street to Broad street for the benefit of school children attending the Franklin school.

A deed from Alexander Iverlett to the city of Paducah for a strip of ground, 233x166 feet, at Sixth and Husbands streets, was received and acknowledged.

Propositions from three insurance agents for liability policies indemnifying the city against accidents to any employees of the city electric light plant and also protecting the city against loss or damage, growing out of any accident that may result from an electric light wire breaking, were submitted. These were referred to City Solicitor Campbell for investigation and he is to recommend the best one. They will be examined carefully in order that the city may not become tangled in any detail. The policies were from A. L. Well, Hummel Bros. and L. L. Bebout. The board of public works deems it proper for the city to carry such a policy, as it has not had any for some time.

Sewers.
Sewer Inspector A. Franke reported that the Illinois Central Railroad company is liable for the wreck of a manhole at First street and Broadway, caused by one of the railroad cars jumping the track and alighting on it. The damage amounts to about $8 and the bill will be presented to the claim agent for collection.

Mr. Franke was authorized to build a manhole on the grounds of Riverside hospital to facilitate the drainage. Much trouble has been experienced there during the last week, owing to the sewer becoming clogged. A manhole will remedy this.

Mr. Franke also reported that there were 288 property owners in sewer district No. 1, who have not connected with the sewer. This matter is in the hands of the health department. The monthly reports of the street inspector, sewer inspector and superintendent of the electric light plant were received and filed.

City Engineer L. A. Washington renewed the old discussion of his "pet light." Mr. Washington wants the board to order a light on Jefferson street, but no action was taken. The clerk was instructed to write a letter to C. E. Jennings, who formerly owned a piece of property at Ninth and Caldwell streets, notifying him to install a sewer pipe in the lot under the direction of the city engineer. It is said Mr. Jennings, at the time he owned the property, had a wooden drain built and it has rotted away, causing an obstruction to natural drainage.

The board ordered a large table for their office and also a number of extra chairs. All members were present as follows: Richard Rudy, Finis Lack and Louis Kolb.

The river came to a stand here today and will begin rising. She will probably reach the flood stage.

ENTHRONEMENT

BISHOP O'DONAGHUE WILL COME WITH ESCORTS.

Meeting of Priests of Diocese Held at St. Francis Hall to Make Arrangements.

Louisville, March 2.—Details for the enthronement of Bishop Denis O'Donaghue, as the head of the diocese of Louisville, were arranged at a meeting of the priests of the diocese at St. Francis hall, in the basement of the Cathedral of the Assumption, and the remaining details were left to an executive committee of seven members, who will be appointed by the Rev. Father James P. Cronin, administrator of the diocese since the death of Bishop McCloskey.

It was arranged definitely that Bishop O'Donaghue will come to Louisville on March 30, and that his enthronement as bishop of the diocese will follow immediately at the cathedral. An escort committee of twenty-five members, which will also be appointed by Father Cronin, will go to Indianapolis on the morning of March 30, on a special train, and will escort the bishop to this city. The executive committee of seven will look after the details of the arrangements after the train reaches Louisville.

Another detail of the enthronement which was decided upon was a banquet to Bishop O'Donaghue which will be tendered by the priests of the Louisville diocese. This banquet will be provided by subscriptions from the priests, who may contribute what they see fit. If there is a residue after the expenses have been met it will be turned over to the bishop. The place for holding the banquet has not been decided upon, but will be determined by the executive committee.

WOULD SECURE WORLD PEACE

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO TAKE THE FIRST STEP.

"United States of World" Would Demand From Members Surrender of All Armed Vessels.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION

New York, Mch. 2.—The congress of the United States will be asked in a few weeks to father an organization to be known as "the United States of the World," with an object of international unity and permanent world peace.

The step will be taken at the instance of the World Federation league, recently organized in New York, which is rapidly spreading over the country. A prominent western senator will introduce a joint resolution empowering the United States government to take the immediate initiative in the formation of the "United States of the World."

Embodied in the resolution will be draft of a proposed constitution of this new world combine. This constitution will follow the lines of one constructed by Oscar T. Crosby, one of the founders and vice-presidents of the federation league. Mr. Crosby, who is a member of the New York firm of J. G. White & company, builders of traction systems, is wealthy and has made a study of international and economic problems for many years.

Confederation of States.
The resolution will ask that the treaty making authority of the government be recommended to proceed promptly to the negotiation of international agreements through which may be established a confederation of sovereign states. Congress will be asked to support and give public expression to a form of constitution which will be a fitting instrument for realizing the world wide aspirations toward the amelioration of harsh conditions now suffered by multitudes and which, in part, are due to an ever-present fear of international war.

According to the proposed constitution, the object of the union is the abolition of war. The sovereign government created by the adoption of the constitution shall have closely "defined powers, to be exercised by a body known as: the international court, and composed of representatives of the member states of the union."

The most significant power to be delegated to the "United States of the World" is the right to demand of member states the surrender within three months from the date of adoption of the constitution of all armed vessels of war and all material appurtenant thereto. The court will select from the surrendered fleets whatever vessels it may desire to retain in its naval establishment. The undesired vessels will be disarmed and returned to their respective governments. The member states are to pledge themselves not to build any new vessels of war.

ROOSEVELT'S HUNT RECORD BREAKER

PARTY SAILS FOR KHARTUM, REACH THERE MARCH 15.

Five Hundred Specimens of Large Mammals Bagged—All Killed in Interest of Science.

FIRST WHITE TO KILL BONGO.

Gondokoro, Sudan, on the upper Nile, March 2.—Col. Roosevelt and the others of his immediate party sailed today on the steamer Dal for Khartum, where they expect to arrive on March 15.

Col. Roosevelt and Kermit have killed some 500 specimens of large mammals. The bag includes the following: Seventeen lions, eleven elephants, ten buffaloes, ten black rhinoceroses, nine white rhinoceroses, nine hippopotami, nine giraffes, three leopards, seven cheetas, three giant elands, three sabies, one sitatunga and two bongos.

All these were killed in the interest of science.

From the point of importance, the most highly prized game may be rated as follows:

First, the giant elands, the first complete specimens of which family are now being taken from the country; second, the white rhinoceroses; third, the bongos, the first to be stalked and killed by a white man, and, fourth, the sitatunga, a species of antelope.

Science will be enriched by several new species and an enormous series of the smaller mammals of Africa. The game taken and the collections made constitute a world's record for a similar period of hunting and scientific research in Africa.

COUNTING TIES

LONG WALKS FOR ILLINOIS CENTRAL EMPLOYEES.

Expect to Average Twenty Miles a Day Along the Main Right of Way.

Exercise in plentiful quantities will be obtained by four employees of the Illinois Central railroad, as they have been assigned the job of track walking. The employees will cover the roadbed from Louisville to East Cairo, and from Henderson to Hopkinsville for the purpose of ascertaining the number of ties and rails on the right-of-way. The employees left today for their destination to begin their sprint of over 100 miles.

J. D. Marley left at noon for Louisville and he will walk from Louisville to mile post 92 on the H. & E. branch, making a total of 102 miles to be covered. Arthur Jones will trot down the rails from mile post 92 to mile post 157 on the Owensboro branch, making a total of 104 miles. J. H. Clark will travel by foot from mile post 197 to East Cairo, a distance of 104 miles. His friends are planning a reception for him when he passes through Paducah. The longest distances will be hoofed by John M. Clark, who will perambulate from Henderson to Hopkinsville, the two cities being 154 miles apart when measured by the railroad track. It will take until next week to get the data, as it is calculated that an average of 20 miles a day can be covered. The Marathon runners were given a farewell reception today when they left to begin their journey.

YOU ARE GROWING YOUNGER MOTHER

BANISH THOSE GRAY HAIRS!
Kill the Dandruff Germs—Stop Hair Falling
Thousands of mothers are looking younger. Their gray hairs are gone. The natural color has come back, and with it a new growth of soft, glossy, luxuriant hair. Why should you look old before your time, when you can look years younger by using

It is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored
My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and sulphur hair remedy. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head
For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

Ambrose Mercer and W. E. Everts, engineers, have gone duck hunting in the wide on the Tennessee river. From last reports they had bagged almost as much game as Colonel Roosevelt.

Dr. G. C. Kinney, of the staff of the hospital, is ill of erysipelas. His condition is not serious, but he has been removed to the quarantine ward.

Engineer M. V. Rucker is off duty owing to illness.

Sickness has kept the staff of the railroad hospital busy for several weeks. There are few cases of serious illness, but a large number of railroad employees are ill of the grip. Last night Miss J. Bourke, a trained nurse, arrived from St. Louis to augment the local staff during the grip epidemic.

Machinist R. G. McLaughlin has recovered from a several weeks' illness.

James Lowery, a machinist's helper, is off duty owing to an illness of the grip.

Oswen Nelson, of the storekeeping department, has recovered from his recent illness.
